Project Details

School Name: Ahi Evran Vocational Training Center
Project Name: Boss

Purpose

We aimed to raise awareness about respect, trust and non-violent communication among the apprentice students of our school and the actors of the enterprises we cooperate with. Thus, we wanted to contribute to the reduction of communication problems among our schools and enterprises and tried to focus on the apprentice students' best interest.

Audience

The target audience of our project consisted of apprentice students, teachers and administrators of our school, school support staff, and employees of the enterprises we collaborated with.

For the project, 5 apprentice students, and 12 teachers worked;

- A questionnaire was conducted with 400 students,
- A survey was conducted with 100 company representatives,
- 5 enterprise boards were prepared and equipped with content,
- School was decorated with 28 words of wisdom.

We worked in solidarity with the furniture and interior design teachers and students of our school for the construction of the panels to be placed in the enterprises. We installed the completed operation panels on the operation walls by equipping them with content.

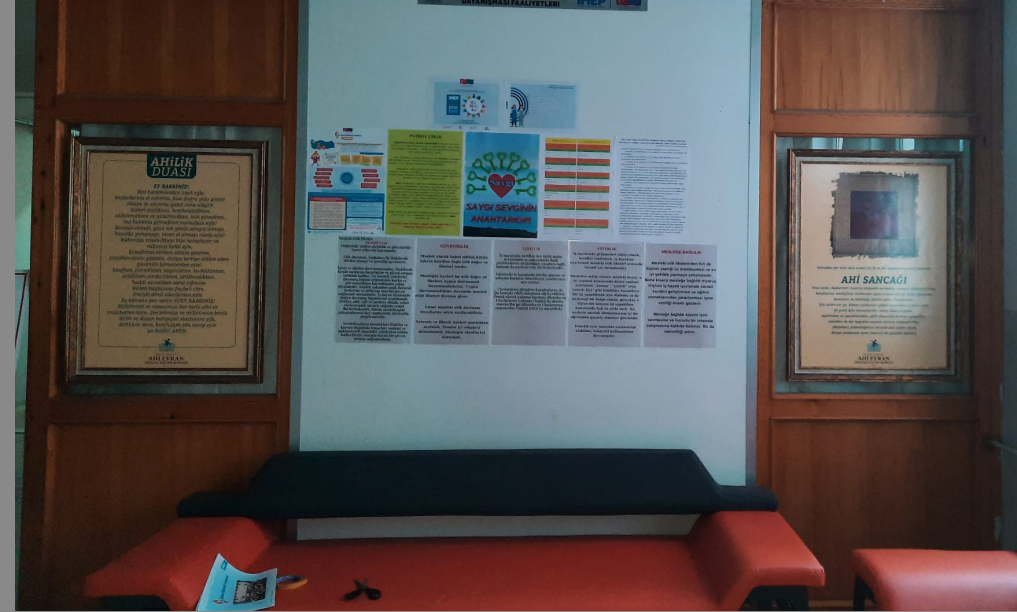

We conducted our surveys with apprentice students and company representatives. We analyzed the results of the surveys.

We researched words of wisdom addressing the root causes that stand out in the survey results. We carried out studies to create the visual elements of these words of wisdom.

We worked in solidarity with the furniture and interior design teachers and students of our school for the construction of the panels to be placed in the enterprises. We installed the completed operation panels on the operation walls by equipping them with content.

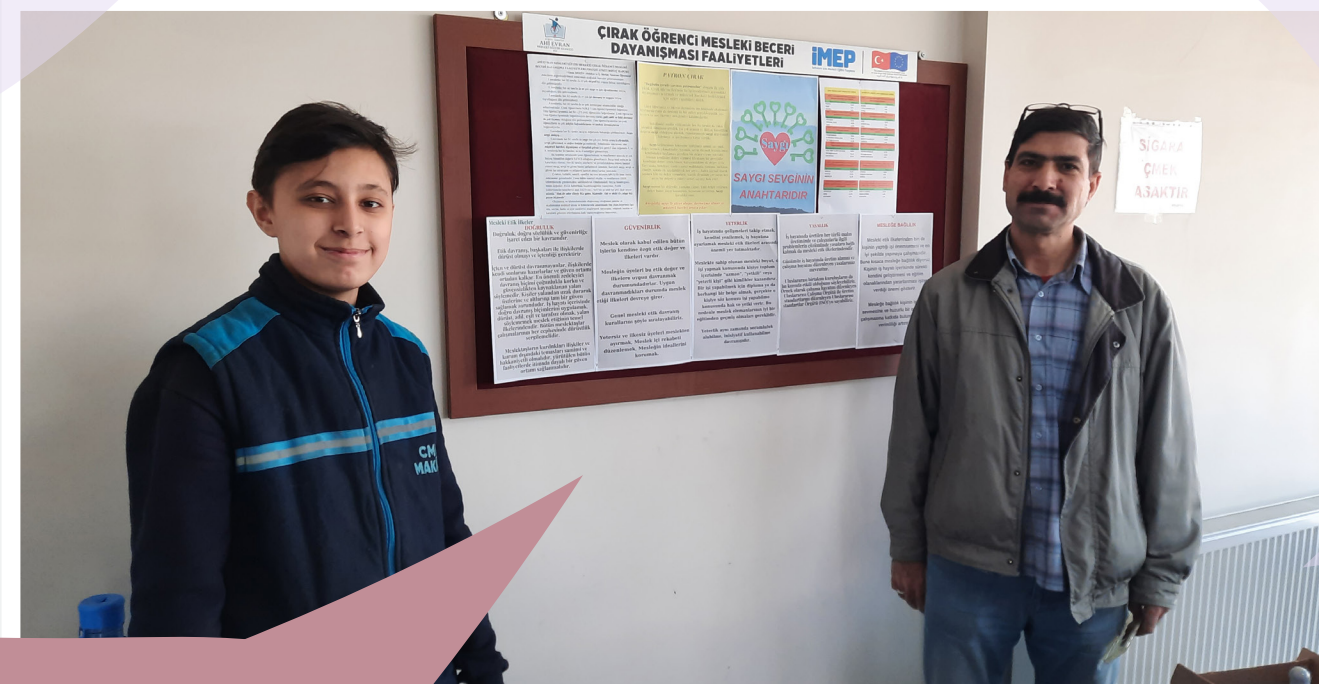

We ensured that the printed words of wisdom were placed in our school. With all these studies, we have improved our communication muscles.

What Do Beneficiaries and Implementers Think About the Project?

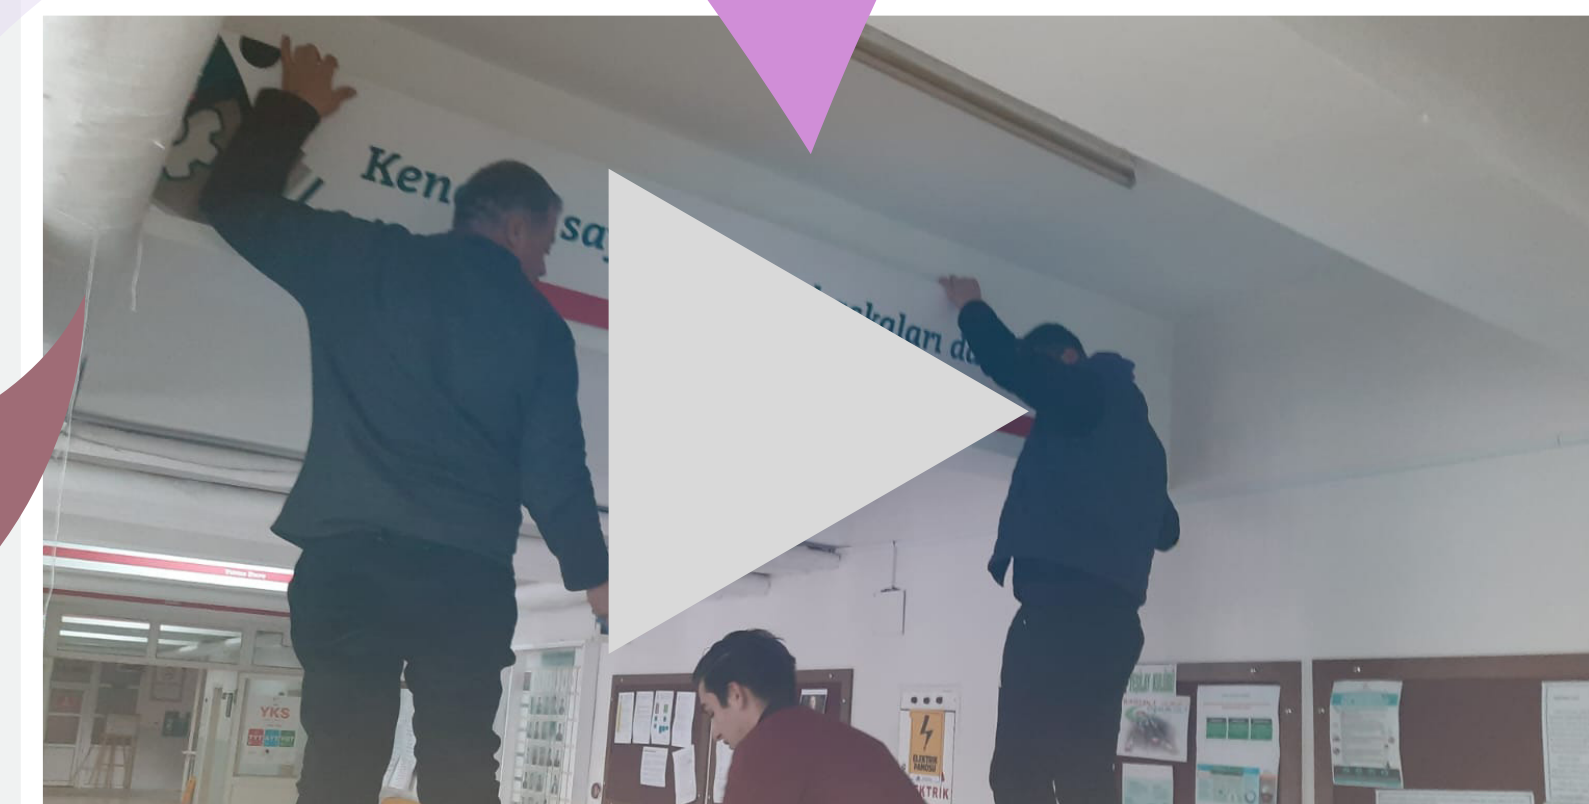

As an enterprise, we liked the panel work very much. We would also like to contribute to its content.

Education comes first. Education should continue everywhere, and schools should not be seen as the sole responsible for education.

The topics in the prepared surveys are of very close interest to us, apprentice students. You have focused on a very important area, thank you very much for your efforts for us.

We found it meaningful that the value of respect stands out in the survey results, and we think that mutual respect is an important need for the formation of a trust environment.

Recommendations for Implementation and Development of the Project

- Conducting regular studies to strengthen the communication between the school and the enterprise
- Adopting the principle of the best interests of children/young people, and making it adopted

- Making time and providing space for thoroughly dealing with the problems
- Regularly updating the works that will establish trust

- Organizing training in the fields such as empathy, non-violent communication, and conflict management
- Receiving the support of professional organizations
